CORNELL UNIVERSITY LIBRARY REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

1936-37

To the President of the University:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the report of the Librarian of the University Library for the year beginning July 1, 1936 and ended June 30, 1937.

For a number of years in the recent past the Librarian's report began with a reiteration of the statement that our Library was overcrowded and that an increase of space for books and for staff working quarters was an urgent necessity. It is a source of grateful joy and profound satisfaction to the Librarian and to all who use or work in the University Library building to be able to announce that the first of these evils, the dangerous congestion of books, has been remedied for the time being.

The construction of the new stack wing in the southwest angle of the original library building, approved by the Trustees early in 1936, was begun in July 1936. In February 1937 the new structure, embracing a cellar not used for books, and eight decks equipped with modern book shelves and a modern lighting system, with seventy cubicles or book stalls for the use of faculty members or graduate students engaged in research, as well as a spacious seminar room on the top floor, was ready for use.

The operation of moving books into the new stack was begun in November 1936. It was no small task, for it involved not merely the moving of the 111,000 binder's volumes which now occupy this new stack, but the relocation of every single volume in the Library with the exception of books in the periodical room, in the reference and seminar rooms, and the greater portion of the books in the main reading room. In all more than half a million actual binder's volumes had to be shifted and the operation is not yet completed. The manual labor was provided almost entirely by students working under subsidy by the National Youth Administration. To this government agency and to its officials at Cornell University the Librarian offers his most grateful thanks, for the timely and substantial aid and for the ever ready cooperation and support, without which our book moving problem could not have found an easy solution.

The 111,000 volumes now housed in the new stack represent about one fifth of the contents of the University Library building. It is the Librarian's earnest hope that the space now provided on the shelves by the new arrangement will afford room for growth for at least six or seven years. In the meantime the problem of added space for the increasing work of the staff remains unsolved.

The action of the Board of Trustees which authorized the erection of the new stack, also provided for an increase in the size of the staff by the addition of two new cataloguers and a male library helper. Working places for these had to be found by sacrificing valuable space hitherto used for readers' tables on the main floor of the west stack. At the same time the Trustees increased the annual book fund appropriation by $2,500, so that the book buying power of the Library is more nearly what it was before the depression caused such a deplorable shrinkage in our book endowment income. The amount spent for books during the year 1936-37 was $34,931 as compared with $30,754.14 spent in 1935-36.

STAFF

During the year the following new members were added to the staff: Mr. Eric T. Schuler, Cataloguer, Mr. Russell Barnes, Library Helper. Mrs. Muriel Farr Bennett and Miss Louise C. Titcomb were employed as temporary cataloguers. Miss Rachel Wood, Readers' Assistant, resigned and was replaced by Miss Marion E. Struble.

NATIONAL YOUTH ADMINISTRATION STUDENT EMPLOYEES

In addition to the great amount of labor consumed in book moving already commented upon, student relief employees were also engaged in book repairing, a large amount of book cleaning necessitated by the quantities of dust raised by the building operations connected with the new stack, making book number signs for the new book locations, redistributing catalogue cards for a radical expansion of the card catalogue which had become as congested as the books on the shelves, and making an entirely new set of contents signs for the trays of the expanded catalogue. A new census of books by stacks and decks, according to the new book locations was begun. It will be completed next term.

EXHIBITION

The expansion of the catalogue could be carried out only by encroaching upon the space in the main entrance vestibule, hitherto used for exhibition cases. The last exhibition under the old conditions consisted of a selection of interesting American play bills from the collection bequeathed by Benno Loewy. The display showed eighteenth century play bills from New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, and nineteenth century bills from these cities as well as from New Orleans, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Rochester, Portland, Me., and San Francisco.

Of the original seven show cases, four, inconveniently scattered, remain. They were used for an Alumni Exhibit during the Commencement period, which displayed some of the Library's most valuable possessions, its earliest written documents and printed books, as well as striking rarities from the Dante, the Petrarch, the Icelandic, and the Wason Chinese collections.

ACCESSIONS

The total amount expended for books during the year was $34,931 as against $30,754 last year. Miss Ingersoll, Head of the Accessions Division, reports that the total number of additions to the accession book was 10,668 as against 9,841 last year. Of these 8,420 went to the general library, the remainder into special collections. Of the general acquisitions 4,739 were purchased and 3,681 were gifts.

GIFTS

No new endowment funds were added during the past year; but from Mrs. Louis S. Weyl, through Mrs. Miriam S. Weyl, we received a contribution of $25 to be expended on books to be added to those purchased from the income of the James S. Weyl endowment established last year. For the third successive year the Class of 1899 made an outright gift to the Library from the income of a Class Fund which is eventually to be presented to the University. Their gift this year amounted to $500. Once again Mr. Elmer M. Johnson of Ithaca made a cash contribution of ten dollars. Through the efforts of Mr. John R. Armstrong of Rochester a group of twelve citizens of Rochester, New York, including Mr. Armstrong himself, gathered a fund of $146, which was contributed toward the purchase of the eleven volumes of Thomas J. Wise's "The Ashley Catalogue," a privately printed work of the highest importance to the scholar in English literature, which comes into the market very rarely.

From the estate of the late Professor Horatio S. White of Harvard University, formerly at Cornell, we received, through Mr. T. Franklin Currier and Professor F. W. C. Lieder of Harvard, 346 bound books and 585 unbound books and pamphlets mostly on German literature and language from Professor White's library.

Messrs. Elmer E. Morrill and Jesse A. Morrill presented the Library with a large quantity of letters, speeches, one autograph album and other documents that belonged to Justin S. Morrill, the author of the Morrill Act which established the land grant colleges in 1862. They also gave us an edition of the works of Terence and the sixth edition of Sir Philip Sidney's "The Countess of Pembroke's Arcadia" (London, 1627).

Mr. R. M. Roberts donated 328 miscellaneous volumes, and from Emeritus Professor W. F. Willcox we received a large miscellaneous donation of books and journals in the field of statistics and the social sciences.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. E. Gurley continued their many generous gifts of books, especially Shakespeariana.

The list of individual donors appended to this report numbers 630. To each of these the Librarian wishes here to make a public acknowledgment of the Library's indebtedness and to offer a personal expression of thanks. To the many editors or publishers of journals or magazines named in the list, as well as to the numerous government bureaus, foundations, societies, institutions and business firms, who send us their publications year after year, a special word of thanks is due for their continued, unfailing generosity. As usual the list contains the names of many faculty members and university officers whose thoughtfulness for their own library, continued in many cases over a long period of years, merits a particularly warm acknowledgment.

A random selection of some of the individual gifts will give an idea of the nature of these contributions to our store of books. From Mr. Atal Behari Ghosh, Calcutta, India (deceased), through Mr. G. A. Barnard, we received volumes 16-19 of "Tantrik Texts." Mr. Ralph M. Brown '01, sent us a seventy volume edition of the works of Voltaire (1775-1789) and six volumes of the works of Fontaine (1818). Through Dr. Henry P. de Forest we received, as in previous years, a number of journals from the Library of the Cornell Club of New York. From Professor William H. Glasson we received paper currency issued by the State of North Carolina during the Civil War. Through Miss Mary J. Hull came Burr's map of New York State (Ithaca, 1838), 26 miscellaneous account books of early Ithaca firms, the hotel register of the Clinton House, Ithaca, for the years 1860 to 1863, and other items of interest to the student of the history of Ithaca or New York State from the library of the late Professor Charles H. Hull. From the H. A. Manning Company of Springfield, Massachusetts, through the Ithaca Chamber of Commerce our collection of city directories was increased by 153 volumes. Mr. Carter R. Kingsley '96, donated 32 miscellaneous volumes. Mr. Douglas C. McMurtrie increased the collection of his valuable monographs on printing, particularly on the early presses of American cities, by five new items. Mr. Carl Nestman presented us with 47 miniature scores of classical chamber and orchestra music. Ex-Governor William Sulzer gave us an edition of James Russell Lowell's works, 22 miscellaneous bound books, an album of photographs, two scrap books of newspaper clippings and one letter file box of personal correspondence to be added to the already large collection of Sulzer correspondence now in the possession of the Library. Dr. Alfred Sao-ke Sze '99 sent us the twenty-fifth anniversary supplement of the China Press (October 10, 1936) and other books. Mr. R. W. G. Vail '14 donated The Farmers' Diary or Western Almanac for 1833 (Ithaca, 1832), the Western Almanac for 1840 (Ithaca, 1839) and his own "The Literature of Book Collecting." Mrs. Hendrik Willem van Loon sent us Simplicissimus, 1906-1913; La Vie Parisienne, 1912; Le Rire, 1905-1909; Die Jugend, 1913-1919.
